Description

A former WW1 Billet Hut believed to have been built circa 1914. Originally used to billet soldiers in Belgium during WW1, it is believed to have been flat-packed a few years later and shipped back to England, finding its new home in Southam having been sold at auction in Sutton Coldfield. It was then believed to have been used for an infant welfare hut during WW2.

The hut is in need of repair but has potential for refurbishment or redevelopment of the site, subject to the necessary planning consent.
